

Humanities
of Nature
Colloquium

Zoomlink:
<https://s.421.fr/hon>

The politics of conservation

A digital colloquium

Wednesdays, 1–2pm CET

This colloquium will probe into the entangled histories and presents of museums, nature and species conservation, protected areas and national parks. It will enquire into the “politics of conservation”, including the interests, resources, benefits, knowledges and technologies mobilized in conservation efforts and the subjectivities, geographies, temporalities and social orders they give rise to and/or reproduce: What is conserved, how, by whom and who benefits?

Wednesday, 3 May

Dr. Mordecai Ogada, Conservation Solutions Afrika
Green Colonialism: The New Empires

Wednesday, 10 May

Dr. Wilhelm Kiwango, University of Dodoma
Convivial Conservation and the entangled history of Protected Areas in the Global South: Prospects and Challenges

Wednesday, 17 May

Sanchita Balachandran, Johns Hopkins University
“May I know how you kill them to preserve them as specimens?„ Life and Death in the Conservation Laboratory

Wednesday, 24 May

Dr. Frank Matose, University of Cape Town
The Violence of Conservation in Africa: Rethinking alternatives

Wednesday, 7 June

Prof. Dr. Noémie Étienne, University of Vienna
Dr. Lotte Arndt, TU Berlin
Contested Conservation

Wednesday, 14 June

Prof. Dr. Aby Sène-Harper, Clemson University
From Biodiversity to Capital: Shifting Grounds in African Conservation

Wednesday, 21 June

Prof. Dr. Esther Turnhout, University of Twente
Animating plural natures: knowledge and practice beyond conservation

Wednesday, 5 July

Prof. Dr. Rosaleen Duffy, University of Sheffield
Security and Conservation: A Political Ecology Analysis of Strategies to Tackle the Illegal Wildlife Trade

Wednesday, 12 July

Prof. Dr. Prakash Kashwan, Brandeis University
Conceptualizing and Realizing Ecological Justice in an Unequal World

&:

Berlin University
Alliance

Technische
Universität
Berlin